Britain Sends Thinly-Veiled Threat To Japan

Protest Charges Invasion Of Hong Kong Territorial Waters By Japan

WARNS BRITAIN WILL TAKE ACTION

Says Protection Will Be Given To British Trade Interests In South China

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 22.—Coupled with a thinly-veiled threat, Great Britant today sent another note of protest to Japan, this time charging invasion of Hong Kong territorial waters.

Sir Robert L. Craigie, ambassador in Tokyo, was instructed to recall to Tokyo the incident of December 11, when a Japanese destroyer fired on a Chinese customs vessel within the Hong Kong area. The destroyer then sent two motorboats to tow off the Chinese vessel, which had been beached.

British to Act

Government quarters at the same time hinted that, in the event of future incidents, British naval forces will take "necessary measures" to secure the inviolability of Hong Kong territorial waters.

"While not doubting that the Japanese government shares its view of the incident," said the note, "the British government requests assurances that strict instructions have been issued to the Japanese naval forces which will insure the full respect for Hong Kong waters."

At the same time, following a cabinet meeting, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden informed the House of Commons that Japanese naval movements in the vicinity of Hong Kong, and possible spread of the fighting to Kwangtung (province southwest of Hong Kong) are being "carefully watched".

"All protection is being and will be afforded to British trade interests in South China," Eden promised.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

"They also serve who only stand and wait," might apply very well to county officials, who are now standing around waiting for the new relief setup, which is supposed to become effective the first of January. They have received copies of the act but nobody seems able to interpret it. As near as the county commissioners and the county relief department have been able to figure out, there will not be much difference in the cost to the county of present and the proposed system. It will take off some and add on some, making it about at a standoff, but as to how and why, officials are still in the dark.

In the opinion of Pa Newc the turkey is coming in for too much attention at present. He is liable to imagine that he is the whole show, and get the swelled head, even if he does lose it at Christmas. There are other barn yard fowls that deserve attention. Chickens, ducks and geese. Most people are familiar with chickens, or were in the good old Republican times when there was a chicken in every pot, but comparatively few have so much as even tasted geese and ducks. Geese are really good eating, and as for ducks, there's nothing much finer than a good fat duck, well roasted, with plenty of stuffin'. Pa Newc knew a minister once who even preferred duck to chicken.

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 22.—Five persons, including three young children, were burned to death today and two others probably fatally injured in a fire at a lonely farmhouse 10 miles east of here.

The dead: William Yothers, 70; Annie Yothers his sister, 69; and their nephew and nieces, Wilmer 15, Jean 13 and Annabelle Crow, 11.

The two injured were rushed to the Connellsville hospital from the Yothers' home in Salt Lake township. The clothes of the boy, Melvin Crow, were almost entirely burned from his body.

Probe Mystery In Ted Healy's Death

By RALPH B. JORDAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22.—The curtain was up today on another Hollywood mystery as police swiftly backtracked the bizarre trail of the noted comedian, Ted Healy, which ended in his sudden death yesterday in his home in nearby Westwood Hills.

Homicide squad officers sought the man, reputed to be prominent here, who fought a wild battle with the comedian outside a Hollywood night spot and gave him a beating which may have contributed to his death.

An autopsy was slated to be held today. Unofficial medical opinion was about evenly divided between the theories of natural death, from heart disease, and violent death from head injuries.

If the autopsy, to be performed by Coroner Frank Nance, shows that

Special Session Of Congress Ends

Little Accomplished On Program Presented By Pre-i-dent Roosevelt

REGULAR SESSION BEGINS JANUARY 3

By ARTHUR HACHTEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Congress, accused of being a "rubber stamp" for the White House, definitely broke away during the special session just ended, and wound up in a group of bi-partisan blocs that bewildered administration leaders.

Surveying today the "achievements" of the extraordinary session called November 15 to deal with emergency conditions facing the country, congressional leaders foresaw revolts and confusion compounded at the regular session which begins January 3.

Issues Unsettled

Most of the issues that confronted the special session are yet to be settled. Eyes were turned toward the White House for a message from President Roosevelt pointing the way for the next session.

While not a single measure recommended by the president to help lift the nation back onto the highway of prosperity was finally passed at the special session, some consolation was taken in the fact the

Colder Here On Christmas

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 22.—Winter is officially here today. It arrived at 1:22 a. m.

Warm weather belied the official opening, however, the temperature ranging in the 40's with no trace of snow in the Pittsburgh district. Elsewhere in western Pennsylvania, however, a three-inch snowfall was reported.

Today was the shortest of the year by about one second, according to U. S. Weather Forecaster W. S. Brotzman.

The following Christmas forecast was given out by Brotzman:

"About all it is safe to say is that it will be colder. Temperatures in the northwest are down to two and four below zero today. The cold is moving this way and should reach here by Friday or Saturday."

A host of 130 persons—almost half of them blind or escorts of the blind—attended the holiday program and enjoyed dinner, heard a local man give a humorous speech, heard excellent musical entertainment and watched as Christmas gifts were distributed to the sightless guests.

Greetings For Guests

President R. L. Boyd, opening the program after dinner, extended a welcome to the blind in the club's behalf. Mrs. A. H. Borland, chairman of the blind work committee for the Ladies of the Lions, and Roy F. Conway, chairman of the blind work committee for the club, also addressed appropriate greetings to the honored group.

Earl T. Ramsey, former district governor of the Lions' clubs of District 14-B, was chairman for last night's program.

GET TRACE OF MISSING MAN

GROVE CITY, Dec. 22—The first clue in the mysterious disappearance of Paul T. Kifer, who has been missing from his home here since last Wednesday morning, came to light at Princeton, Indiana, when the car in which he left Grove City was located in a public garage. The information was wired to state police at Mercer, and relayed to Mrs. Kifer.

A description of the person who left the car in the garage was not given in the message, but police are confident that further information will be forthcoming. It is the first "break" in the case for five days.

Kifer, a former National Guard officer, and author of a number of detective stories, left his home last Wednesday morning, and efforts to trace him had previously ended in Slippery Rock, where he had filled his gasoline tank.

Rushing Movie Film Of Bombing Of U. S. Gunboat

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 22—Over the seas from Manila the China Clipper winged its way today with 5,000 feet of what may prove to be the most important photographic history ever filmed — the bombing of the U. S. gunboat Panay.

Within 24 hours after it is landed at San Francisco a complete, unedited print will be rushed to Washington to be viewed by diplomatic and navy authorities still seeking the truth of the "accident" in Chinese waters.

Norman Alley, Universal Pictures cameraman, lost everything else when the Panay sank but he saved the precious film record, more than enough for three reels, filmed from the deck of the Panay as Japanese planes swooped and dived and dropped their bombs.

LABOR PARLEY PLANS COLLAPSE

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—The American Federation of Labor and John L. Lewis' CIO burned fragile peace bridges today and turned fiercely back to war.

Utter collapse of conferences between the two forces looking to reunion brought bitter renewal of the rivalry that has wedged them farther and farther apart for two years now. This failure carried a vital meaning for the nation socially and, perhaps, politically.

But first of all came charges and counter charges of blame, plans of each to fight for labor supremacy, and a summing of the situation from the viewpoint of both sides.

E. T. Weaver Is Killed By Train

Body Is Hurled Into Mahoning River When Struck By Pennsylvania Passenger Train

FIREMEN TAKE BODY FROM RIVER

Struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train as it was leaving the New Castle Junction station west of Montgomery avenue at 5:15 o'clock Tuesday evening, Ellsworth T. Weaver, aged 48, of 718 Cumberland avenue, was instantly killed. His body was knocked into the Mahoning river from the railroad trestle at this point, and was recovered by city firemen and police an hour later. He had suffered a fractured skull.

Weaver, who was a freight conductor employed by the Pennsylvania railroad at the yards at Youngstown, was returning home from work, and had just alighted from the train which struck him. It was train No. 332, Cleveland to Pittsburgh, operating over the westbound tracks from SI tower, at Hazelton to the JU tower south of Mahoningtown, instead of over the eastbound tracks as is customary, and it is believed that it was this fact that led Weaver to walk down the westbound tracks ahead of the train to his death. If the train had been operating on the eastbound tracks, it would have passed him in safety.

The train was stopped by the engineer but too late to avoid striking Mr. Weaver.

Body Is Recovered

Police were notified, Lieut. Cecil Suber, H. L. Richards and R. L. Richards, proceeding to the scene. They summoned city firemen and the B. truck company with Fire Chief A. P. McIlwain and assistant chief Earl T. Dart, went to the scene. They placed a ladder down into the river from the railroad trestle, and fireman Clyde Rohrer waded out into the stream and placed a rope around his body, after which it was hauled up to the floor of the trestle. Yule Offerings Last Night Applauded By Crowd; Many In Casts

Two Christmas operettas, one for the second, third and fourth grades and one for the fifth and sixth grades, were presented by pupils of the Arthur McGill school last night before an appreciative audience in the George Washington junior-senior high school auditorium.

The first operetta, "The Christmas Light", was given by the lower grades. The second, "The Magi's Gift", was presented by the upper grade pupils with Mrs. J. B. Matthews as accompanist.

On the stage during the evening was a large cast of McGill youngsters, all performing at their best. Teachers and pupils had spent weeks rehearsing and the two excellent shows of the evening demonstrated that. The dancers and others were good and the chorus groups sang well.

Brakemen Of Lodge 955 Have Spaghetti Dinner

Put them in a classification yard or a passenger terminal, or put them around a table full of spaghetti and the brakemen of Lodge 955 will give a good account of themselves. Especially if it is good spaghetti such as they put out Tuesday night in a Morton street restaurant.

The occasion was two-fold. First it was to honor George J. Forrest who recently received a forty year pin and second it was for the purpose of holding a social evening Unfortunately Mr. Forrest was detained by illness but sent a letter expressing his regret at being unable to be present.

James De Lawrence was the chairman of the evening and introduced the long time president of the lodge Samuel Taylor. Mr Taylor spoke briefly, expressed his appreciation of the large turn out and for the co-operation that had always been extended him.

Presley N. Jones was the main speaker of the evening. President of the Junior Chamber of Commerce he dwelt at some length upon the work of that organization, the close relationship of the men present to what was being done and urged the railroaders to co-operate with the chamber.

Michael Babosky, who acts as treasurer of the lodge spoke briefly and interestingly. Miss Kitty Kelly a blues singer presented several numbers. Harry Ross and Ernest Palus, the "Two Black Crows" presented a twenty minute skit that went over in a big way. During the dinner the Rhythm Kings were on hand with their orchestral harmonies. Bart Richards acted as toastmaster.

It was a pleasant evening, one that was not stilted by formality nor yet without sufficient design to make it interesting. A similar event will probably be held within the near future.

Japanese Foreign Office Issues Preliminary Report On Panay Bombing

STILL DENIES SHIP WAS MACHINE-GUNNED

Attempt Is Made To Ease Irritation In United States Over Delay In Reply

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1937)

TOKYO, Dec. 22.—Stung by statements of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Chamberlain which stressed America's and Britain's roles in world affairs, the Japanese foreign office tonight suddenly issued an apologetic preliminary report on the Panay bombing.

In an evident attempt to ease Washington's irritation over delays, the foreign office spokesman said that poor communications in China were responsible for the nearly two weeks' wait for the army report on the incident.

Reversing its previous admission, however, the foreign office flatly denied that Japanese launches machinegunned the sinking Panay.

Situation More Acute

The placatory tone of the report, and the speed in which it was issued after the coincident Roosevelt and Chamberlain statements, clearly showed that Japan is appreciating

New Report Flag Thrown Into River

Another Grave Incident Is Added To Reports Coming From China

(International News Service)

SHANGHAI, Dec. 22.—A grave new incident, in which Japanese soldiers were reported to have thrown an American flag into the Yangtze river near Wuhu, brought added tension in American-Japanese relations today.

Letters reaching Shanghai charged that the Nipponese troops pulled down an American flag which was flying at the mast of a boat belonging to the general hospital at Wuhu, up the river from Nanking.

The letters, which were described as coming from "unimpeachable foreign sources," declared the Japanese "threw the flag into the Yangtze."

If this incident is officially proved, it is expected to add substantially to the crisis now severely straining relations between Tokyo and Washington as a result of the bombing and sinking of the United States gunboat Papay off Hoshien by Japanese planes.

The dispute over the Panay incident has been heightened to fever heat by certain sections of the Japanese army that it is "inconceivable" that Japanese forces machine gunned the Panay.

These declarations have been made in the face of contrary statements by American and other eyewitnesses and by the foreign office in Tokyo.

Kellogg, Peace Advocate, Is Dead

Noted American Dies At 81 Years

Death Occurs At St. Paul, Minn. Keep Far East News From Him Recently

IDEALS SHATTERED IN LAST FEW YEARS

(International News Service)

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 22.—Frank Billings Kellogg was spared the final bitter blow to his lifelong dreams of world peace, it became known today.

He died last night on the eve of his 81st birthday without being informed of the Japanese bombing of the U. S. gunboat Panay.

The former secretary of state and co-author of the Kellogg-Briand peace pact had been so ill for weeks that doctors feared he could not survive news of the crisis the attack precipitated.

Until the last few days when he dropped into a coma Kellogg had been keenly interested in far eastern developments and it taxed his physicians to keep word of the Panay bombing from him, it was learned.

Friends were of the opinion today that the warlike trend in world affairs had undoubtedly affected the noted statesman's health in the past two years. He had noticeably weakened, they said, as he saw ideals shattered to which he had devoted a major part of his public life.

Rallying from several strokes in the past year, Kellogg suffered an attack of cerebral thrombosis in November which was complicated by pneumonia that developed last week.

Save for maintaining an interest in his law firm, Kellogg retired two years ago when he resigned as a judge at the court of international justice at The Hague to which he was appointed in 1929.

far-flung farm-aid bills, and the housing-boom bill reached the stage of conference between the senate and house. The conferees will settle the differences between the senate and house bills.

Congress did pass a bill appropriating $225,000 for travelling expenses of its members. The senate and house pages were taken care of in another appropriation bill whistled through the two houses; also some comparatively insignificant bills.

"Transition" Is Seen

Old-time senators and representatives declared themselves baffled over the "transition" that seems to be taking place in congress. The word "must" on administration bills no longer appeared to have its magic on Capitol Hill. The president, according to close advisers, had determined to give congress a chance to show what it could do to lift the nation out of the depression.

The president's four-point recovery program submitted to the special session failed of consummation. He asked for a comprehensive farm program, but that will not reach him until mid-January. His request for legislation to facilitate a housing boom will not be complied with until early January.

He asked for wage-and-hour legislation and that bill after a spectacular fight in the house with Democrats joining Republicans in opposition, was sent back to committee for further study. Outlook for resurrecting it were not considered bright.

The president wanted authority to reorganize the executive branch of the government in the interest of efficiency. Legislation never even reached the talking stage in either senate or house. A drive will be made to put it through next month.

tive of the fact that the situation in Washington and London daily grows more grave.

Investigation of the Panay catastrophe, with the cooperation of a staff member from imperial headquarters, is continuing, said the foreign office.

The interim report, according to the spokesman, showed that the Japanese soldiers who boarded the Panay prior to the aerial bombing were only on a "friendly visit."

"After the bombing, when he saw the wounded leaving the Panay, the unit commander ordered Japanese soldiers to assist them," the spokesman recounted.

"In the second bombing of the Panay, two Japanese were killed and three injured, including the company commander. Although they waved Japanese flags, the Japanese aviators did not recognize them.

Assist In Rescue

"Nevertheless, the Japanese continued to aid the American wounded.

"Later, Japanese intentionally boarded the Panay for the purpose of aiding the wounded and assist in their rescue."

Emphatically denying American charges that the Panay was machine-gunned from two Japanese launches, the foreign office offered the opinion that the American eyewitnesses were "mistaken."

"Japanese troops fired on Chinese soldiers in a boat named the Lita, which was later captured," the spokesman explained. "Observers may have mistakenly thought they were firing on the Panay.

"But that allegation is not true.

"The Japanese military is not hostile to Americans, this was indicated by the manner in which they cared for the American wounded. It is impossible to conceive that they would purposely trespass on an American ship."

Holiday Party At "Y" Tuesday

Address Is Made By Dr. G. S. Bennett Of First Christion Church

The gift of personal service is as precious—even more precious—than the gift of material things, Dr. G. S. Bennett, pastor of the First Christian church, reminded clubmen of the Young Men's Christian Association and other youths at the association's annual holiday lobby party last night.

The minister's message was fitting to the Christmas season. Over 75 heard his address and participated in carol singing under Howard Warnock's direction.

The program, topping off an evening of general athletic competition, drew one of the largest groups ever to attend a similar program. The Young Men's council of the association sponsored it.

Sid Lockley, city controller-elect, acted as chairman of the arrangements while Warnock was the able program chairman. The latter introduced Dr. Bennett.

Represented in the audience were the six young men's clubs of the association and different athletic divisions of the "Y."

Lunch was served at the close.

General Secretary R. L. Meermans and his staff were on hand to help guide the festivities.

covering the body were Edwin M. Jessell, William Bowen and Ross Aubel.

Sheriff Edward T. Pritchard, who is acting coroner, was summoned and conducted an investigation into the circumstances surrounding the tragic accident, along with officials of the railroad.

Mr. Weaver's eleven-year-old son, Ellsworth, has been critically ill in the Jameson Memorial hospital, and has just recently been showing improvement. He had required two blood transfusions to restore him to health, one of which was given by his father. Mr. Weaver was hurrying home to get ready for the Christmas celebration which was planned to gladden the heart of his little son, and it is possible that he had this in mind when he alighted from the train and was hurrying down the track to get over to the street car line and get home.

Ellworth Thompson Weaver was born February 22, 1889, in Lewistown, Pa. He had been a resident here for 30 years and for the past 27 years had been employed as a trainman for the Pennsylvania R. R. He was a member of the Epworth M. E. church.

He is survived by his wife, Amanda Velker Weaver, to whom he was married 25 years ago; two daughters, Mrs. Jessie May Wettich, of New Wilmington, and Mrs. Virginia Maloney, of New Castle, and one son, Ellsworth, Jr., and two grandchildren. He also leaves one brother, W. P. Weaver, of Willard, O., and three sisters, Mrs. Marilla May and Mrs. Mary Stoner of Greensburg, Pa., and Mrs. Sue McVey of Hollidaysburg, Pa.

Funeral services will take place Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Epworth M. E. church, with Rev. H. A. McCurdy in charge.

Sixty-Seventh Wedding Anniversary Observed

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM H. RECK

That quaint old "Memory Treasure Chest" was opened up today at a family dinner by Mr. and Mrs. William H. Reck of 210 South Walnut street, who are celebrating their sixty-seventh wedding anniversary, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Frank Dunlap, 206 South Walnut street.

The prominent couple, are holding "open house" as a medium of celebrating, the festivities being launched with a dinner party at 12 o'clock noon. The nuptial motif, combined with the holiday idea, provided a cleverly decorated table for the memorable occasion.

This afternoon, from 1 until 4 o'clock, friends, relatives and neighbors filed in and out of the Dunlap house, to extend congratulations to the guests of honor. They were entertained at an informal reception, and reminiscing proved a popular avenue of diversion.

This evening, the hours from 7 until 9 will be set aside for others wishing to share, when the reception will be resumed.

Sixty-seven years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Reck were married at Alliance, O. For the past thirty-five years, they have been residents of New Castle, and during this time, they have acquired a wealth of friends. Mr. and Mrs. Reck are active members of the Epworth M. E. church, and he also serves on the Rescue Mission Board. Both are fortunate in having good health, in spite of their advanced years. Mrs. Reck, the former Anna Josephine Ewing, of Lisbon, O., is now in her 85th year, while Mr. Reck, a former yard master on the Pennsylvania Railroad at Alliance, O., and now a retired carpenter contractor, is 87 years of age.

They were the parents of four children, three sons, Harry, Charles and Glenn, deceased, and one daughter, Mrs. Frank Dunlap, at whose home the event is taking place. They have one grandson, Harley Shoaff, Sr., and two great grandchildren, Harley Shoaff, Jr., and Mary Lou Shoaff, of this city.

The rooms are transformed into a bower of beauty, with bouquets of flowers, gifts of their many friends, adding to the joys of the day. Many messages of congratulations from those unable to be present were received in addition to a collection of lovely gifts, by the honored couple.

By this evening, these mementos will be carefully tucked away in the "Memory Treasure Chest" to be recalled for days, and days to come, with only the most pleasant recollections.

RECESSION'S END?

PERHAPS it is the buoyant spirit of the Christmas season that gives our morale a lift, or perhaps it is the warm sun, breaking through the gray December skies, or maybe the times are really a little better than they have been. Regardless of the true explanation, however, the undeniable fact remains that the depression of spirit arising from the recession of business is beginning to clear and things are looking up.

This is more than an intangible, abstract feeling. The improvement is noticeable and evidence supporting an optimistic outlook is to be found in the firmness of the Stock Market, a satisfactory Christmas trade and the hopeful views of business leaders who are not prone to pessimism, such as Henry Ford, who foresees a swift recovery which will recapture the ground lost and also record new gains.

Glenn Grisworld, vice president of the McGraw-Hill Company and publisher of Business Week, has found from his study of existing business conditions that the bottom of the recession has been reached and he predicts that by the end of the first quarter of the new year there will be a more definite rise in business which will continue steadily during 1938.

Reviewing the current slump, Mr. Griswold says he is unable to find any factor that has retarded business except fear, not a fear of the national debt, an unbalanced budget or the tax situation, but rather the fear of the ultimate effects of the debt and the unbalanced budget and of what the tax policy might lead to.

NEW YORK'S EXPERIMENT

New York City, with its towering structures, its teeming millions, narrow streets, restricted area and countless motor cars, offers the world's most difficult problem of parking regulation and traffic control. Conditions found in other cities are simple in comparison.

Traffic control is, however, a problem common to all cities in varying degrees of seriousness and for this reason there will be widespread interest in the progress of New York's latest effort to deal adequately with traffic control and particularly with parking.

If the problem of traffic regulation in New York City can be solved there is no reason why municipal authorities everywhere, whose difficulties are relatively simple, should yield to the influence of despair. With necessary modifications and alterations to meet conditions, New York's formula can be applied to other communities, if and when the formula is found.

CORNERING ONE OF MAN'S ENEMIES

The intensive study of the start, progress and treatment of influenza with a specific community as a test-tube laboratory, now being initiated by the Rockefeller Foundation in Yorktown, New York, is a unique experiment of vast potential import.

Influenza is a disease familiar to all, as yet unconquered and only partially understood, and this close investigation will consider the ailment in relation to all others and every health factor common to all communities.

Just thirteen months ago Dr. Richard E. Shope of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research indicated that the twin causes of influenza —a bacterium and a filtrable virus—had been identified. This alone was startling news concerning a disease believed epidemic as early as 412 B. C., as reported by Hippocrates. Dr. Wilson G. Smillie of the Harvard School of Public Health last year also reported "a definite possibility that science had discovered a cure for influenza."

Since 6000 persons died in the first influenza epidemic in the Western Hemisphere in 1647, and since the malady which raged so disastrously in 1918 still recurs with unpredictable vigor and often complicated by pneumonia, there can be earnest hope that the community test-tube research now under way can open a way, not only to decrease the influenza fatalities, but also perhaps to clarify causes and develop immunity from the allied common cold, which remains as baffling and, considering working time and efficiency lost, is probably our costliest disease.

ORVILLE WRIGHT'S CONTRIBUTION

A description as "the greatest man living today, from the viewpoint of his contribution to science, sociology and economics" was the accolade to Orville Wright, co-inventor of the airplane, on the thirty-fourth anniversary of the first flight of a heavier-than-air craft.

That honor was paid Mr. Wright by Edgar S. Gorrell, president of the Air Transport Association of America, and he found many in agreement with his remark that "the significance of Orville Wright's flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C., in 1903 undoubtedly will, in the future, mean more to history than any other event of modern times; this fact is recognized universally throughout the world, perhaps more so abroad than in this country."

We wouldn't relish the task of selecting the "greatest living man today," for true greatness depends upon the judgment of history. If Mr. Gorrell's prediction that the Kitty Hawk flight "will, in the future, mean more to history than any other event of modern times" is correct, then his appraisal of Mr. Wright's greatness must be believed.

In view of aviation's contribution in the past 34 years, Mr. Wright deserves a secure place in America's hall of fame. While many consider the value of aviation to war as paramount, its contribution to the cause of peace cannot be underestimated. The world has been made smaller by Orville Wright's "flying machine," and the swiftness and ease of travel have removed many of the prejudices that foster misunderstandings leading to war.

The progress of aviation will bring us still closer to the people in foreign lands. The more we mingle with those people, the less desire we shall have to oppose them in fields of battle.

Science, medicine and social progress all owe a debt to aviation and, consequently, Orville Wright. His invention undoubtedly will rank as one of the most significant in the world's history.

It is estimated that 87 per cent of the world's dumb remarks begin with the words, "If I were you."

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

VACATION TIME HAS HAZARDS

Along with all the joys of Christmas come some sorrows to children, thanks to hazards they must face.

In the rural home, school or church not lighted with electricity, the candled Christmas tree may prove a serious menace. To put flaming candles on the tree is to endanger many precious little lives. Pine needles burn like paper. There are some hazards, too, from imperfect electric wiring.

Thousands of children will get sleds at Christmas. But sleds are perilous unless used in safe places. I wish more parents would go with their children to safe coasting places; and I wish we might have many city streets roped off for children in summer as well as winter. We could, if enough of us cared. For the rural child the public highway is too dangerous for coasting.

The wise parent not only provides safe places for his children to use sleds, but also sees to it that they surely avoid obviously perilous places. Otherwise, let the child have no sled. It may have to be a choice between life and a sled.

May Need Trouncing

To parents who care: Please see that your child does not slide from the drive or lot into the street, nor play with his sled in the unprotected street. See that he never hooks a ride. If in earlier years he had learned obedience, such safety measures will be easily effected. Whereas corporal punishment is of doubtful wisdom, as a rule, after the age of four or five, it might be employed wisely even with the child of 10 or 12, who, in defiance of his parents' warning, will coast in forbidden ways and places. Nothing might prove more humane than a good trouncing of this young daredevil, with a switch, paddle or razor strop. But children properly disciplined in younger years will not need measures so severe to restrain them.

Health hazards are increased at time. Too many sweets eaten then, and often many children will huddle in a home poorly ventilated. The crowded street car and child-frequented theaters are good spreaders of children's diseases during the Christmas holidays.

This season also may prove perilous to home serenity—more noise, more confusions, more family tensions. Usually it is a hard time for mother's nerves. Thanks to the school, there eventually comes relief again.

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

A HUSBAND TOLD ME:

He told me that at the moment he was unpopular at home.

Not that he'd done anything serious enough to break up his family. But he'd been grouchy and had lost his temper a few times too often—and everybody there was more or less fed up with father.

Particularly his wife. . . . He'd hurt her, wounded her rather deeply. She wasn't friendly, and he knew he didn't deserve her friendship right then.

He went on to say that he knew what some husbands did when such crises arose in their family lives. . . . They bribed their way out.

Sent home flowers. Brought home a big box of candy or a jewel. Bought their way back into the friendliness and external affection of the family.

But he never did that any more. . . . He knew better than to try it. . . . Once, 15 or 20 years ago, when he was first married he tried that sort of thing and it didn't work at all. Husbands older than he was then had told him it was the thing to do. And because he knew neither himself nor his wife so very well, even though they loved each other devotedly, he tried to bribe her out of a temporary but serious coldness.

But it didn't work. He hurt her profoundly. Made him realize that her affection for him was not so cheap as he seemed to think. The break in their happiness was not something to be patched up with a

"If we want to regain our prosperity we must do an about face on regulation. In other words our prosperity still depends on two fundamentals—work and production."

WASHINGTON.—Rep. Hamilton Fish (R) of New York, appeals to President Roosevelt to urge the American people to "keep calm," and avoid all boycotts:

"The president can point out that boycotts, reprisals or threats mean creating hatred in our country and in Japan, and that is the road to war."

Christmas is once more captivating us with its irresistible charms. Simple in origin, deep in meaning, beautiful in tradition and custom, rich in memories and charitable in spirit, it has an attraction to which our hearts are readily drawn.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

By Francine Markel

Dear Miss Markel—Please give me some instructions for preparing for a tea, that is, should the dishes be arranged on the table, just what else should be on it, decorations for the room, etc.?

COUNTRY WOMAN.

Answer—If you have an open fireplace, it will be an ideal background for your table.

The cloth on the table may be colored but usually it is white. Your silver should be shining, your china the best possible, your napkins small. A bowl of flowers on your table will add to its attraction. If the room requires artificial light, unshaded candles should be placed on the table.

A tray, large enough to hold everything but the food, should, if available, be placed on the table in front of the hostess. On it should be set the tea pot, water pot, hot water kettle (if used), cream pitcher, sugar bowl, a glass dish with lemon slices, in addition to stacks of small tea plates, cups and saucers. A small napkin should be folded and placed on each of the plates before they are stacked one on the other. Each plate is then lifted off the pile with its own napkin.

The spoons may be placed in a row on the tray or two or three may be placed on each saucer.

On the table, back of the tray, put your serving plates containing sandwiches and cakes. These need not be placed near the hostess since the guests may help themselves to such refreshments.

If preferred they may be put on the shelves of a "curate"—a three-tiered cake stand—on the top shelf of which, hot bread (if any) may be placed, sandwiches on the middle and cake on the bottom shelf.

Unless you have a maid to serve, you should have everything ready before the first guest arrives.

Nazi Opponents Lose Privileges. Auto Makers Are Being Squeezed. Ford Adds To River Rouge Plant.

By LESLIE EICHEL, Central Press Columnist

MONDAY, JAN. 3, will be a black letter day in the United States. The number of unemployed (who registered) then will be made known in Washington. The number is larger than had been anticipated, officially.

IN NAZI LAND

A German who has opposite political views to the prevailing Nazi government has had his automobile license taken away from him. Persons who differ with the Nazis are considered "politically unreliable". And very careless with their lives.

"NO LIKE"

Farmers gave radio commentators a sardonic ha-ha when they announced that farm income this year had reached eight and one-half billion dollars and that everybody ought to be happy. Estimates up to six months ago were nine billion. And falling commodity prices caught farmers just when they were ready to sell.

SQUEEZE

Automobile manufacturers are said to be calling upon firms making parts for them and suggesting that prices be lowered—even if there are contracts for higher prices. Auto manufacturers cannot reduce pay, parts makers may try to. At any rate they are in a hole. Automobile prices for several makes are expected to be cut after Jan. 1. The price increases made in November, for the new models, has not "taken". This is the word in Wall Street.

FORD BUILDS

Henry Ford, who talks decentralization, is building huge additions to his River Rouge plant, Detroit. By the end of 1938, this will be the greatest self-contained plant in the world. Ford, never satisfied that anybody else can do as well as he, in cost, at least, hopes to buy less and less outside.

Incidentally, the new Ford distributing plant in St. Louis will be Ford's largest branch. Inexpensive transportation on the Mississippi river may have something to do with that.

DECENTRALIZATION

But there is decentralization in one industry—rubber. Akron fears the rubber companies will rob the city eventually of its main industry. The rubber companies intimate it is because of unionization in Akron. The C. I. O., however, says it will follow the industry, no matter how split up it may become.

SELF-SERVE

Chain grocery organizations are going in for self-serve food markets. Cashiers are the only employes. Costly fixtures are eliminated. This cuts expenses materially, relieves greatly on chain store taxes in states that have it—and snubs the clerks' union.

PANZAI FOR CHRISTMAS!

Shoppers in some five-ten-twenty-five stores report finding "Merry Christmas" pasters over "Made in Japan" on various articles.

WAR BUSINESS

The American machine tool industry is congratulating itself that it has foreign business at the moment (it comprises 50 per cent of the total). But what is the foreign business? For armament programs —some of it in nations not in line with America's way of thinking politically.

SALES

Newspapers may do a surprisingly good business in January. Immense sales are forecast They will be widely advertised. Stores however, are further down in their inventories than they had expected a few weeks ago. The public, nevertheless, looks for sales. And the stores will not disappoint.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

TOO MUCH REGULATION.

To the citizen who owns few or no securities, the losses of billions that have recently occurred in the stock market may seem to be of no interest. But that is a short-sighted view, for the action of the security markets affects us all. The values represented by stocks and bonds constitute savings and surplus spending and borrowing power. When values sharply decline, that spending power is partially wiped out. People reduce their purchasing, productive employment lags, the production indexes of all types of industries drop.

This is not an argument for excessively high stock prices—it is possible that part of the decline in values was justified and marked a necessary correction. But it is unquestionably true that the government policy of excessively regulating security exchange operations and forbidding market operations, that in past times tended to take up the slack in thin markets, has proved an artificial depressive force that endangers all security investments and savings, and the welfare and progress of all industry.

The next Congress will do the country a great service if it will revise security regulatory laws in the light of actualities, to the end that dishonest manipulators are controlled and at the same time the spirit of the honest investor and security dealer is not broken or hog-tied by unnatural restraints.

Just Folks

TWO BROTHERS

Jim was the foolish youngster; the smarter boy was Joe.
Jim worked and saved his money. Joe thought that method slow.
Jim started running errands. Joe, as I said, was smart.
Unless it pleased his fancy he wouldn't even start.
"You take it if you want it," to Jim he often said
And wear your legs out running. I'm going to use my head."

Joe was sophisticated; with wise cracks on his lips
He scorned the patient plodders and talked of market tips.
"Spend all your lifetime working and all the pleasures shun!
You'll always pay the grocer, but won't have any fun."
And saying this he'd chuckle: "Be honest, patient, true.
Then some day if you're lucky you'll own a dime or two."

Jim was the foolish brother who worked for what he got
Joe was the smarter fellow who knew just what is what.
He laughed at Jim, the plodder and maybe rightly so
For Jim has spent his lifetime in looking after Joe.
The gay, wise cracking Joseph when life has cornered him
Comes constantly to borrow a little help from Jim.

TODAY Is The Day

Copyright 1937 Central Press — By CLARK KINNAIRD

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 22.

Once Upon Dec. 22nd—There aren't any ideas for keeping nations at peace that haven't been tried. Take, for example, the Neutrality Act, designed to prevent American commerce from getting us involved with belligerents. Back in 1808, on Dec. 22, Congress passed an embargo act, forbidding all American ships to engage in transatlantic trade, to keep us from getting mixed up in the hostilities between Britain and France. Britain had ruled that any American ship with a cargo bound for France must first stop at a British port and pay duties. France had retaliated by issuing decrees declaring that any vessel which touched at a British port would, upon arrival in France, be seized as an enemy ship.

President Jefferson had a theory we could not get into war if we had no merchant marine on the seas, no International trade and no army and navy to make jingos of us. If the demand in Europe for raw materials from America did not bring France and England to their senses, he reasoned, then we would be a self-contained country, manufacturing ourselves the goods we had imported from abroad, and selling our manufactures only to ourselves.

What did happen? Francis F. Beirne has summarized it:

A hundred thousand seamen were thrown out of work, our ships lay idle at their piers. Merchants whose livelihoods depended upon the import of goods found themselves ruined. The foreign market for the agricultural products of the South was lost and cotton, tobacco and grains dropped in price.

Anticipating passage of the act, many American vessels, loaded to gunwhales, defeated its purpose by setting sail. A hundred of them reached France. Napoleon issued a decree ordering seizure of all American ships in French waters. He replied to protests by declaring he was helping the American government enforce its laws.

Within a few months, however, the embargo act was so generally violated that enforcement bills had

O'Toole To Become Head Of Council At Pittsburgh

Former Local Attorney To Fill Important Post With Start Of New Year

When the Pittsburgh city council convenes in January and organizes, a former New Castle attorney, James L. O'Toole, Jr, will head the council as president. Mr. O'Toole has been a member of the Pittsburgh city council for fourteen months and was re-elected for a full four year term in the November elections. He is the youngest councilman in point of age, now serving, being 37.

Mr. O'Toole is the son of James L. O'Toole, Sr., assistant to the general manager of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad. Born in Aspinwall Mr. O'Toole went to Notre Dame University following his high school days and was graduated from the Notre Dame law school before he was 21, being forced to wait nearly a year before he took the state bar examination.

About 1922 he came to New Castle where for three years he was associated with Attorneys John P. Lockhart and William McElwee, Jr., in the practice of law. In 1926 he returned to Pittsburgh and immediately became interested in Democratic politics.

When Cornelius D. Scully was appointed city solicitor under Mayor William N. McNair, Mr. O'Toole was appointed an assistant to him. In 1931, 1933 and 1935 Mr. O'Toole was a candidate for a judgeship but was unsuccessful.

When McNair fired Mr. Scully as city solicitor Mr. O'Toole resigned. Later he was appointed Internal Revenue Collector succeeding David Lawrence but resigned to run for judge.

He is 37 wears of age, married to the former Martina Quinn of New Castle and is known as an aggressive councilman.

to be passed calling on the Army and Navy to prevent violations, but Jeffersons peace policy had left us with no Army or Navy to speak of. They couldn't enforce it. Within a year it had become clear that the embargo was a complete failure, and Congress repealed it.

Then we got into the war with Britain the act was intended to prevent.

On Other Dec. 22nds—1696—James Edward Oglethorpe, founder of Georgia, was born in London, youngest of eight children of a baronet. A prodigy, he rose to be colonel in the British army at nineteen.

1775—Two frigates and two brigs became the first naval fleet of the U. S., under command of Esek Hopkins, who was given rank of Brigadier-general and a salary of $6 a week. He was deposed a few months later on grounds of cowardice.

1799—Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr worked together as lawyers to defend a woman accused of murdering her lover in New York. They lost the case.

1825—Congress voted the biggest soldier bonus in our history. It bestowed $200,000, 24,000 acres of land in Florida, and hereditary citizenship upon Marquis de Lafayette for his services in the Revolution. Washington had not even received a salary; nothing except his expenses.

Rinascenza Lodge Party Is Success

Interesting Addresses Are Heard; Attorney Moretti Is Toastmaster

In a downtown tea room recently members of Rinascenza Lodge No. 19 assembled for a Christmas party.

Following dinner, an interesting program was presented. Attorney Frank O. Moretti was toastmaster. State President John Aldiserti, an out of town guest, revealed the fact that in 1938 the organization will commence functioning in Ohio. Professor Domenico Russo, state secretary, said he was pleased with the manner in which the organization is progressing and stated that 92 lodges have been formed in seven years.

Oddone DiVitto, president of the local lodge, then presented Angelo Fiala with a valuable gift as a reward for the splendid work done by Mr. Fiala since the inception of the lodge seven years ago. Mr. Fiala responded with an appropriate speech. Joseph Tomasello also spoke. Frank Restivo and John Pacelli rendered appealing tunes thruout the occasion. The committee in charge was Oddone Di Vitto, chairman; Angelo Fiala, Marino Sacripanti and Nobile Di Lorenzo.

The next meeting will be on January 2 at the King Humbert hall.

box of candy or a bunch of flowers. Didn't he understand that? . . . Yes, suddenly, he did. . . . And from that day to this, he brought gifts to his wife only when she was happy with him and NEVER to pacify her, never to appease any feeling she might deservedly have against him. . . . After all, they were friends, not antagonists. Their life together was a true marriage, and NOT an armed truce.

This husband said that in some ways their life might have been easier if it had followed the course of some marriages he'd observed, but it would never have been the rich adventure he'd found it to be.

Didn't I agree with him, he asked. . . . And I said I did, with all my heart.

Jack Hines Is Real Adventurer

Writer Is World's True Soldier Of Fortune Having Traveled Widely

CELEBRITIES WEAR WIDE-BRIMMED HATS

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Jack Hines is back in circulation, having returned from his latest experiment in working a gold claim in a lonely Nevada valley. Hines is the writing world's true soldier of fortune. A gentleman of many talents, who has roamed the world as fancy dictates.

O. O. McIntyre

Twenty years ago he rounded in from the Klondyke to write his famous dog stories for the leading magazines. And for a number of years his fine baritone voice rang clear at the Dutch Treat and Illustrators' shows. But his life has not been all glamour. Plenty of ups and downs.

He was on the stage awhile, sang in night clubs and had an auto accident in which he was for a time horribly disfigured aside from losing a part of his tongue. He had to learn to talk again. Gene Buck called him the Bombardier Wells of literature—often on the floor but always got up.

Rex Beach can recall the time he was in a jerry-built roadhouse on the shores of the Behring sea when he was a strippling. A youth with a ten days growth of beard arrived by dog sled. And Beach, who played the mandolin, started the newcomer singing and he sang until dawn. It was Hines.

On a recent day the Artists and Writers paid Hines a deserved compliment in welcoming him home. Frank Crowinshield proposed him for honorary life membership and Arthur William Brown, Rube Goldberg, Bud Kelland, Grant Rice and Messmore Kendall were among those who arose to the last man to second the nomination with a lusty cheer. And Hines sang his thanks with misty eyes.

The short light tan box coat with the black velvet collar that Billy (Shingle) Clifford used to affect in vaudeville along with a low bowler is finding expression again. I saw two exponents on the avenue in the late fall and they threaten to become almost a plague by spring. And a style shark at Sulka's tells me the silk shirt is in again. It went into eclipse with the market nose dive and was worn mostly by the gamblers and tin horn tosspots.

Mayor La Guardia and the architect Whitney Warren are, so far as I can notice, the last defenders of the wide-brimmer Stetson, so popular in Missouri and Kansas in the days when the Younger and James boys rode. The mayor acquired a hanker for the style during his early days, and Warren, an elderly Brummel, evidently clung to the shape as a left-over of his student days in the Paris Latin quarter. Hatters say no one can wear the pampas sombrero on the screen, stage or sidewalk, like William S. Hart. Although the late Maclyn Arbuckle was not far behind.

His Honor the Mayor is the least style conscious of any metropolitan chief executive. He buys store clothes at a shop on Broadway and two extra suits are usually the limit of his wardrobe. It is seldom his habiliments are not in dire need of the presser's art, and his neckties are never quite thoroughly knotted. Clothes simply do not interest him. And New York somehow warms to his derelictions. The town was pretty well fed up with descriptions of Jimmy Walker's one-buttoned great coats, high peaked lapels and things.

The peg for the sartorial panegyrics today is, of course, Lucius Beebe, whose latest fashion rocket zoomed in one of the night clubs where he appeared in a dinner jacket of a deep tobacco brown. But Beebe, a sly wag in his own right, is, I suspect, merely needling the kidders when he dazzles the populace now and then. He is willing, despite the austerity of his sober face, to go to great lengths for a laugh. Also he has by his dressy didoes, feigned and real, advertised himself and column from coast to coast. In two years he is about the best known reporter in America.

I watched an accomplished brandy drinker in a restaurant last night. He was like a kitten with catnip while basking in the aroma from the enormous goblet. Now and then he would sip and roll his eyes heavenward, heaving an ecstatic sigh. During our stay he made away with four pourings and a waiter said his customary quota was a half dozen, after which he walked out steadily. With a half dozen, most of us would go out feet up on a litter.

May Abandon 32 C.C.C. Camps

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Abandonment of 32 CCC camps at army posts as part of President Roosevelt's economy program was proposed. To the house appropriations committee by CCC Director Robert Fechner.

These would be in addition to four army post camps ordered abandoned this month and would complete the CCC's withdrawal from army reservations.

The committee is now considering presidential recommendations for a $75,000,000 slash in the CCC's $350,000,000 program. If funds are not supplied for re-enrollment of the army post camps' enrollees, an economy of nearly $6,000,000 could be effected, the committee was informed.

Give your children a real light to study by. Save their eyes. Watch them progress in school. Better light, better sight, better health and better marks. Why make school work an almost unsurmountable task for the little folks?

And you women folks, too—think what a generous flood of modern white light will mean to you. As beautiful as your home may now be, Aladdin light will enhance its charm. AGAIN THIS YEAR, as in every Yuletide Season, the telephone will play its part in the mighty pageantry of Christmas.

Again the laughter of children, the hearty greeting of friend to friend, will go winging along the frosty wires to gladden the hearts of men.

Thousands of people far from home will join their families by telephone. Many old friendships will be renewed through the magic of Long Distance.

This, we believe, is one of the great human services the telephone can render—to cheer the lonely . . . to bring families together . . . to keep old friendships alive.

That this service can be performed so speedily, so surely and at low cost to you is partly due to marvelous mechanisms, expertly operated and carefully controlled. But far more important is the army of telephone people whose sincere desire is to serve you well—who are happy to feel that the service they render may help YOU to have . . .

Hanna Has Excellent Record As Patrolman

Among the men W. H. Gillespie named to a policeman's berth when mayor of the city is Robert Hanna who has had approximately 10 years service, first as a patrolman, later as a patrol driver and who now drives a cruiser car out of police headquarters.

Previous to his election as a policeman, Hanna was a firemen on the Pennsylvania railroad. When he went on the force he was appointed to patrol the section in the vicinity of City Hall which in police parlance is known as the "Office beat."

Hanna held down this beat for five years then was given a berth driving the patrol. He fulfilled his duties faithfully and capably but of more recent years was transferred to the cruiser car division.

Hanna and Officer Peter Hillers were together when they captured a young man whom had robbed a chain store here and a liquor store at Mercer. The youth was in company of another youth.

The arrest was made in Long avenue. One of the pair dropped a revolver. For lack of evidence one of the youths was discharged but the other is serving time for his escapades now.

Later Hanna and Hillers placed under arrest another young man on the South Side for robbing restaurants and confectionery stores. He was also convicted and is serving time for his wrong-doing.

Hanna has had other experiences. In fact he has been on several shooting and murder cases.

Hanna is numbered among the crew who operate police cruisers all hours of the day and night. No difference where they may be they answer all calls sent out of the office by radio.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE SPURS VILLAGE TO BUY FIRE ENGINE

(International News Service)

SANDYVILLE, Ia.—Sandyville, a little village of 92 persons nestling in the hills of Warren county, is contemplating the purchase of a fire engine.

Recently 11 of the 18 homes in the village were destroyed by fire. The seven homes were saved when 80 citizens formed a bucket brigade from a small stream on the edge of the town to the seven homes.

The bucket brigade was formed by men, women and children, some of them scantily clad, with buckets dangling from their arms, to the seven homes.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Charles Kelley entertained in an attractive manner at her home on Saturday afternoon, from two until five o'clock, in honor of her sons, Billie and Charles Jr., celebrating their birthday anniversaries. About thirty little boys and girls were present and the afternoon was spent in a social way.

A beautiful birthday cake with decorations and candles and a delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Andrew Collins, Mrs. Gaylord Cameron and Miss Marguerite Gilliland. The little honor guests received many pretty gifts from their little friends in remembrance of their birthday.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Uriah Hoskins was the guest of honor at a pleasant family gathering at her home on Saturday evening when they all arrived at her home as a surprise to help her celebrate her seventy-fifth birthday anniversary. Over twenty were present and the evening was spent with music and a social time.

A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Charles Wallace, of Pulaski; Mrs. William Hoskins, Wheatland; Mrs. Lewis Davis, and Mrs. David Rowe, of Sharon. A gorgeous birthday cake with candles proved attractive. The honor guest was presented with many lovely gifts in memory of the evening.

LADIES' AID MEETS

Mrs. Walter Mitcheltree proved a pleasant hostess to the members of the Ladies Aid Society, of the Methodist church, when they held their regular meeting at her home on Friday. In the absence of the president, Mrs. James Black, vice president Mrs. D. E. Funk, presided at the business meeting. Christmas gifts were exchanged. A fine lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Evelyn Grell and Mrs. D. E. Funk.

CHRISTMAS PARTY

Members of the Presbyterian church gathered at the home of their pastor and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Luther MacDonald, surprise fashion, for a Christmas party on Saturday evening. An enjoyable evening was spent and a delicious lunch was served to over fifty.

At the close of the evening, Rev. Edward Doverspike presented a collection of useful gifts to Rev. and Mrs. MacDonald in behalf of the congregation.

PULASKI NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Fulkman left last week for an automobile trip to Florida where they will spend some time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McCallister spent Saturday as the guest of friends in Youngstown.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Myers and son, Billy, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Muryl Boyd, of New Castle, for dinner Thursday evening.

The best drainage for wet soils is a line of agricultural tile, which may empty into a roadside ditch or into a dry well, or any other convenient place. For every hundred feet of length, the ditch should drop from 6 to 12 inches.

When a celebrity's income is made public to show how good he is, you don't suppose a slavish regard for truth is allowed to spoil the effect, do you?

Governor Again Delays Action In Regard To De Schweinitz

Relief Director Given More Time

Allowed Until 'After Christmas' To Answer Charges Made Against Department

SITUATION IS STILL "UP-IN-AIR"

By J. WILLIAM THEIS
International New Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Dec. 22.—New charges of "mismanagement and waste" and another chance to defend his relief administration after the Christmas week-end, made Secretary of Public Assistance Karl De Schweinitz Pennsylvania's busiest public servant today.

For a fourth time deferring decision on ousting or retaining the $10,000-a-year cabinet member, Gov. George H. Earle gave De Schweinitz until "after Christmas" to answer a second report's allegations of bungling in the state assistance department.

Still "up in the air," the drawn-out cabinet "crisis" may find its solution in anything from dismissal of De Schweinitz to the widely-reported "compromise" of placing two new deputies in his department.

The new bill of indictment was drawn by State Treasurer F. Clair Ross on the findings of treasury agents said to be making "routine" investigation of forged and stolen checks. In part, it charged that:

A "complete reorganization" is needed in the Department of Public Assistance.

If relief is "efficiently administered" Pennsylvania's expected biennial deficit of $26,000,000 "will not occur."

New York cops confiscate printing presses used to print dirt. It seems that some of the magazines are printed in plants outside the city.

Although the population of Australia is less than 7,000,000, the continent is almost as large as the United States.

A marriage license application is good until it is called for or cancelled, according to Prothonotary John A. Edgar. If a couple make an application and do not call for it for a year or more the marriage license can still be issued on it. If the couple decide that they do not want to get married, after making the application, it can be cancelled only by a personal application at the prothonotary's office. It cannot be cancelled by mail. Once a marriage license is issued it must be used within sixty days or it becomes invalid. It is seldom that applications are cancelled. In a recent case a young woman telephoned in that she wanted her marriage license application cancelled. She was told that she must appear personally. She did not come in but later the couple took out a license and it is presumed were happily married.

County Commissioner George Bolinger was unable to be out Tuesday, having been seized by a sudden illness on Monday. However, it is reported that it is nothing serious, and that he will be able to be out in a few days. County commissioners seem to have had more than their share of trouble. The late Joseph Hannon, had a sick spell, sometime previous to his sudden death. County Commissioner Floyd Cotton was confined in the Jameson Memorial hospital for some time, and it is not so long ago that Commissioner Bolinger was laid up with a bad cold.

Attorneys and others have been interested in a stenotype machine which has been operated by Miss Ruby M. Palmer of Pittsburgh, during the hearings in the Edenburg viaduct cases before Public Utility Examiner Dilley. The machine is smaller than a typewriter, but is operated with a keyboard somewhat similar. Notes are taken down by a system of phonetic spelling, somewhat similar to that used by stenographers, except that the letters are printed the same as with typewriter keys. The machine is so constructed that several letters can be printed at one time. It is practically noiseless. Miss Palmer, who is an expert operator, can keep looking at the questioner, the witnesses or the judge, while they are speaking and have all they say written down by the time they are through. She is able to read the notes without hesitation. It is said that any person who is acquainted with the system can read the notes taken by another, which is quite an advantage over shorthand. Some shorthand writers can read each other's notes, but not all.

Court house officials are busy at this time of year, making up their year end reports. Indications are that the business in most of the departments, will not come up to last year. Some of the reports being prepared are for county records, and others are for both county and state. There are certain reports from all of the offices which must go to the state.

Synagogue Banquet On Sunday Evening

Arrangements Complete For Affair Honoring Rabbi Cecil Shenson

Plans and arrangements have been completed for the testimonial banquet in Rabbi Cecil Shenson's honor, to be held Sunday, December 26, at 6 p. m. in Tifereth Israel synagogue, at which time Rabbi Carl Manello of Youngstown, O., will be guest speaker.

Present for this occasion also will be Rabbi Jacob M. Epstein, of Palestine, who was one of the founders of the American colony in Raanana, Palestine. Rabbi Epstein, who returned to America six months ago, will also address the banquet audience.

Rabbi Pinchos Katz, who is the spiritual leader of the synagogue, will act in the capacity of toastmaster, presenting the speakers. A musical program has also been arranged for the evening.

The banquet honors Rabbi Shenson who has served the Tifereth Israel congregation in various capacities for more than 25 years. It is believed that a large crowd of his friends will assemble for the occasion. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. H. Pitnoff or Maurice Samuels not later than Thursday.

Toy sales in the United States will reach a $230,000,000 total this year, it is predicted. This would be a seven-year peak.

Improved Sound Mechanism At Penn Theatre

New Installation Completed At Cost Of Several Thousand Dollars

New Castle is now on a par with New York; that is, in motion picture sound development, the Penn theater during the past several days at a cost of several thousand dollars, having installed the latest, the RCA High Fidelity sound which is now being enjoyed by Penn theater film fans .

The installation was arranged by Manager M. D'Cohn and the equipment was installed by engineers from Cleveland. It is identical, excepting in size, with that in many larger city theaters.

The outstanding feature is the naturalness of tone, particularly the emphasis on the base notes of voice and music, and, at the same time, reproducing the higher notes which was impossible to obtain in the ordinary equipment.

The Penn now has a new set-up of speakers, four units having been installed in the rear of the screen. They are designed to, and do give a complete distribution of sound in all parts of the theater.

In the upper rear of the theater, in a private room are the motion picture operating machines. As the rolls of film revolve an "exciting lamp" shows a light through the film and the image falls on a photo-cell.

The photo-cell picks up the film, on the left side of which is one-eighth of an inch for sound and opposite it, the portion for the image. As these revolve the sound is reproduced and the images cavort on the screen.

The screen has been termed the silver screen. It may appropriately be called a perforated rubberized cloth because this is exactly what it is. Eighty per cent of the screen is perforated by thousands and thousands of round holes. More than a mile of film is shown daily at the Penn.

The installation of the new equipment already has met with the approval of Penn theater-goers.

They were alleged to have stolen a rifle, revolver, field glasses, shotgun and several boxes of shells. The articles were recovered.

Forty Boys And Girls At Henry Home Prepare For Arrival Of Santa

In a neat and cozy homestead, carefully laid out on a hill-top, more than 40 excited boys and girls are counting the days, hours and minutes until Santa Claus slides down the chimney to pay them his annual visit.

And, Oh, yes, they have been extremely good throughout the year, they said emphatically in the typical manner of children.

After spending more than an hour at the Margaret Henry Home yesterday afternoon, we doubt very much if there is a group of youngsters in New Castle who are anticipating the visit of Saint Nick with quite as much zest.

Upon announcing the fact that the newsman was an agent of Santa Claus, the children swarmed around and let out an order that is an order. They broke out together in declaring their wants from the white bearded gent.

Little Mary McFalls, a winsome brown eyed blonde of 3, wants Santa to bring her:

"Gra' big tall, orange color, tandies, lolly-pop and an orange."

Dickie McFalls, a smiling 4-year-old chap, broke out with:

"Tell Santie I wan' lots toys, tled, gun, candies and oranges."

Swaying to and fro with his finger in his mouth, Donnie McKain, 5, made it well known that he was a good boy all year and wants Santa to bring him:

"Ched, bike, candies, oranges, holly-pop."

"How old are you?" the newsman asked the next youngster.

"I don no," was the reply received from Frankie Castrucci, a lad with beautiful black hair and matching eyes.

Frankie wants, "twagon, puppy, candy, oranges, tool box, twain and bike." He also shouted out something about, "a brake on crane and nothing else."

Marcus Bartberger, 5, marched to the front quickly and yelled out his order:

"Electric train, sled, tool box, toys, bicycle, wagon, real automobile, candy and oranges."

Then, about this time, a couple of the youngsters forgot a few other items and insisted that the representative of Santa jot down the additional wants.

Arthur David Evans, 5, hopes to find his stocking filled with:

"Bike, toys, wagon, oranges, tool box, candy, lolly-pop."

"What do you want?" the newsman asked the last lad in the play room.

"I could name the whole store," replied Billy Mackey, aged 13.

"I want wagon, train, tin ear, bicycle, tool box, ice skates, spy glasses, baby doll and skates," Billy shouted out.

This group represents only a few of the boys and girls of the Margaret Henry home. The remaining youngsters were in school. But, nevertheless, the reporter was informed that the other youngsters are just as enthusiastic about Santa's visit.

Two of the youngsters interrupted the writer, pointed towards the window and said:

"Look Twistmas out tide." Another said, "Look Twistmas trees out there."

The children begged the newsman not to forget to tell Santa all the things they want, as he departed from the play-room and the kiddies went back to play.

Christmas is going to be everything the youngsters expect it to be, take it from Miss Margaret Henry, who is in charge of the home. Plans for a gala Christmas day have been arranged, it was announced. The plans are something like this:

Christmas eve the boys and girls will be tucked away early. At midnight, Santa Claus, who in private life is William J. Wray, of 602 Sumner avenue, will board his sleigh and visit the Cunningham avenue home. Following his flight down the chimney, loaded with a mammoth sack of toys, candies and other goodies, he will ascend to the second floor and awaken the kiddies. The youngsters will assemble in a room on the first floor where Santa will dispense the Yuletide gifts. The room is annually arranged most elaborately, one of the corners brightened by a huge tree, cleverly illuminated. For the next hour or so, the youngsters forget everything and really do some serious bit of playing with their new toys. Mr. Wray, as fine a Santa as ever wore the white beard, has portrayed the role at the local home for the past 19 years.

Miss Henry also stated that, like in other years, several local organizations will participate in making Christmas a gala day for the youngsters of the institution. Miss Henry stated that for the first time in 19 years, it appears as though the Syria Shrine of Pittsburgh, will not play Santa Claus to the home. Throughout the 19 years, the Pittsburgh organization contributed with toys, etc.

At noon, Christmas day, the boys and girls will sit down and enjoy a full course chicken dinner and all the trimmings, Miss Henry said. Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger have made arrangements with Miss Henry for the chicken dinner. Mr. Feuchtwanger is serving his seventh year as president of the home.

Miss Henry is assisted by Mrs. Madge Place and Mrs. Lida Green.

As they heard the sound of the motor, the kiddies assembled around the window and waved at the newsman as he dashed away.

Police records show that 4000 cars are abandoned on the streets of New York every year. When a New Yorker runs out of gas, he really gets mad.

At ten he is happy where he finds eats; at twenty where he finds gaiety; at fifty where he finds kindness.

Film Secretaries Answer Questions

By HARRISON CARROLL
(Copyright, 1937)

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22.—The average business girl puts her career ahead of romance, expects men to cover up her mistakes in the office, frankly dresses for her boss and doesn't mind a bit of flirtation with him if it will help her get along in her job.

Don't get sore girls, this isn't my opinion, it's the indication of a questionnaire answered by 197 secretaries at the Warner Brothers studio.

Warners got the idea of the questionnaire to publicize a picture called "Men Are Such Fools."

Results On Level

They vow, however, that the following results are on the level.

That 182 of the girls admitted they dressed to please the boss.

That 166 would expect men of equal rank to cover up their mistakes because they are feminine.

That the whole group agreed the modern business girl is better off single.

That 109 confessed they'd stage a flirtation with the boss if they believed it would help them get ahead. Seven said they wouldn't and the rest refused to answer this question.

Firemen Called To Large Store

(BULLETIN 2:15 P. M.)

About 2 o'clock this afternoon firemen were called to the Autenreith Department store on Washington street, because of a fire which had developed in the basement.

A large amount of smoke was issuing from the basement, but the extent of the fire was not as yet known.

Pennsylvania ranks first in seventeen of the nation's fifty-one major industries.

HUNGRY SEAGULLS FOUND TO HAVE GOOD MEMORIES

(International News Service)

PORTLAND, Ore.—Seagulls rank with the best of elephants in the matter of memories, in the opinion of Fred Moore, photo engraver.

About a year ago Moore started throwing bits of bread to a number of seagulls. He continued feeding the gulls throughout the winter months, until in the spring they returned to the Williamette river for food.

Moore didn't see much of his feathered friends until bad weather set in again this winter. Now they are back in full force every day, waiting for their bread handout.

Moore's actions are not entirely philanthropic, as he snaps photographs of them during their daily visits. Several of his pictures have drawn favorable comment from critics.

BOSTON—"Women have more personality than men."

Miss Mary C. McDonough, State university extension course lecturer, is authority for this statement.

No woman, in the belief of Miss McDonough, should sit back and let another woman supersede her in the affections of a man because the other woman has more personality than she has.

The remedy, said Miss McDonough is development of a personality.

Roads To Peace Hard To Follow

No Set Policy Can Be Adopted To Keep All Nations Out Of War

ANTI-WAR VOTES; NEUTRALITY LAWS

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Countries are drawn into war in such an infinity of different ways that it seems well-nigh impossible for any particular country to adopt an advance policy to keep itself out of the next one.

One school of thought is to the effect that a strong nation, well prepared for war, is likely to be left in peace, because it is too dangerous to tackle.

An opposite school of thought holds that an overly well-prepared nation tends to become truculent; thus to get into trouble, due to its own excess of confidence in itself.

Pre-World war Germany is the classic example of a country which was too well armed for its own good. Pacifist China is the classic example of a country which has been persistently "picked on" because underarmed.

Both propositions are arguable—arguable to a tie, in short.

WHICH?

Fred A .Britten of Illinois, in earlier post-World war days chairman of the house of representatives' naval affairs committee, was a good deal of a militarist.

Yet Britten favored naval limitation treaties. He reasoned that countries with big armaments constantly were tempted to use them; the only way to restrain them was to deny them the facilities with which to fight.

At the same time former Congressman George Huddleston of Alabama, quite a pacifist, contended that a couple of armamentless countries could fight with carving knives if quarrelsome enough. His view was that mutual disarmament might imply all-around good will, but that disarmament without general good will didn't amount to anything.

Well, both these propositions also are arguable.

"NOT WARS"

More recently Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota launched his movement to maintain American neutrality in the event of warfare between or among any two or more foreign powers.

He made out so convincing a case that congress passed his law, requiring the president to discontinue, in effect, American relations with any two or more foreign countries which might declare hostilities between or among themselves.

Since then there have been three foreign wars:

1. Italy against Ethiopia.
2. Civil war in Spain.
3. Japan's war against China.

But they were not "declared" wars. They were unofficial. Technically, they were NOT wars.

Consequently the Nye act did not fit them.

President Roosevelt might, indeed, have proclaimed that "states of war" actually existed, and proceeded accordingly—but he did not see fit to do so.

Nye-ites blame him. Others commend him.

Again, both points are arguable.

"ANTI-WAR" AMENDMENT

Now comes Representative Louis Ludlow of Indiana with a constitutional referendum before the United States can take a hand in a foreign war.

Hitherto only congress has had the authority to declare war on Uncle Sam's behalf.

The president has been able to create "situations" which left congress no alternative but to declare war, but he himself could not do it. As for the public, it had no veto power.

Ludlow seeks to put the question up to the public.

But it takes a constitutional amendment. To amend the constitution calls for a two-thirds congressional vote and three-quarters of the state legislatures.

It will be a hard, long-drawn-out amendment to get adopted.

RE-ELECTED

The Association of Bank Women has recently re-elected Miss Anne Houstoun of New York as president. Miss Houstoun is assistant secretary of the Bank of Manhattan company.

Police Give Facts On How To Tell Counterfeit Bills

Chief of Detectives Ray Showalter has received from William A. Landvoight, United States Secret Service, a communication in which Landvoight explains how one can tell a good dollar from a counterfeit bill. In view of the holiday buying rush being under way Showalter made public the information sent to him. Here is how to tell a counterfeit bill:

The portrait in the counterfeit has a flat, dull-looking smudgy appearance like a newspaper reproduced.

The paper is not genuine government paper and does not have the little red and blue silk threads.

The colored ink is dull-looking and often has a faded, washed-out appearance.

The serial number is often poorly printed, the figures being irregular and out of line.

If a counterfeit is received from a stranger, stop, hold the bill and on some pretext detain the stranger and notify police.

Professional passers of counterfeits will ask the return of the bill, and if not returned, will try to get away. Innocent people will not attempt to get away.

It was only recently city detectives and police made several arrests in connection with spurious half-dollars and quarters.

European dictators do not receive large salaries, but earn much through publications. Hitler, who has no official income, has made a fortune from his book, "Mein Kampf", and Mussolini derives a large income from his official newspaper, Popolo d'Italia.

New Castle And Sharon Quintets Battle Tonight

Sharon Will Bring Strong Team Here For Pre-Season Battle With "Red Devils"

PRELIMINARY TO START AT 7:15

New Castle high school "Red Devils" basketball team goes back to the hardwood court tonight to meet the fast Sharon high Tigers. The game will be played at George Washington Junior high gym. The preliminary game of the reserve teams of the two schools will start at 7:15 o'clock.

Hope For Victory

After the lacing handed to them by Erie East on Monday night the "Red Devils" are due for a good game tonight and should upset the Sharon hopes. Sharon has a powerful team this year led by Price, Colclaser and Koran of the 1936-37 team. The other night at Sharon the Tigers spilled a fast Erie Strong Vincent team 35 to 25, with Withersty and Koran the big stars of the game.

Head Coach Bridenbaugh has been using various combinations in the first three of the pre-season games, and is just about set upon Nocera and Koszela at the forwards, Strausbaugh at center and Ryglinski and Sniezek at the guards. Of the reserves Marvin and Carey look good, so does Bombyk and Fraser.

Prices Remain Same

Coach Pete Collodi, former Duquesne university floor star, will be after a victory tonight, and will start his strongest possible lineup against the Castle. He watched the Erie East team upset New Castle Monday night and believes that he has the idea doped out how to take the "Red Devils."

The prices for the games this year are the same as last year—15 cents for students, 25 cents general admission and 35 cents for reserved seats. Announcement of the prices was made by Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner today.

The probable lineups:

New Castle		Sharon
Nocera	F	Withersty
Koszela	F	Price
Strausbaugh	C	Colclaser
Ryglinski	G	S. Matthews
Sniezek	G	Koran

Alabama gridders are speeding westward, hopeful of defeating the California Bears at the Rose bowl on New Year's day. The team is not a wonder team but the Alabamans believe it has as equal a chance to win a Rose bowl contest as any eleven which has gone to Pasadena. It is a somewhat stream-lined edition of previous Alabama teams, light but powerful. The average weight of the players is 185.

Ralph Greenleaf remains the world's pocket billiard champion, having defeated Irving Crane, 123 to 3, in a final block of eight innings and taking the challenge match of 12 blocks, 1,500 to 550, at New York. The Rochester challenger took yesterday afternoon's block, 129 to 116.

Defeat Rochester Barnetts 34 To 29 At Falcon Hall In Semi-Pro Floor Game

ADAMS-COOPER STARS OF GAME

The Keystone A. C. basketball team remained in first place in the Beaver Valley Semi-Pro basketball league, by taking the measure of the fast Rochester Barnetts 34 to 29 last night at the Falcon Hall.

The Keys coached by Andy "Coots" Venditto, were trailing the visitors until the final period, when Adams and Cooper came through with field goals that gave the Keys their victory.

The visitors from the valley led 7 to 1 the first period. The end of the first half it was 12 to 9 with the Keys still on the short end. In the fourth and final period the Keys opened up with a dazzling passing attack that bewildered the opponents and Adams, Cooper and Morrison started popping them in. Howarth, Grimm and Marconda were best for the losers.

I still have the interest of the club at heart and will do everything in my power to make it a worthwhile organization.

* * *

Here is a little tip to the young musicians of New Castle . . . it seems like a great deal when mother says . . . you still have an hour practicing to do . . . you think of everything to get out of it . . . in fact you work harder thinking up excuses than you do practicing . . . but here is a young fellow now the assistant coach at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music . . . maybe you remember this young man . . . Victor Rice . . . when Victor was in New Castle he would have to do his practicing in the cellar because it bothered the folks of the house . . . he would practice by the hours . . . when Victor was ready to start out he didn't go by train, auto or plane, but by his own feet . . . he hitch-hiked his way to Cincinnati . . . and friends he has done wonderful . . .he plays the Cello and it is in this department he is associated at the Conservatory . . . so young musicians don't be afraid to do a little more practicing.

* * *

Here it is two days before Christmas . . . are you ready? There are some mighty fine things in our local store . . . don't forget that you live in New Castle.

* * *

We noticed last night that the lights were appearing on more homes . . . it looked wonderful and gave that Christmas-like feeling . . . we are wondering who will have the best looking decorations . . . you can always tell where a Penn Power man lives . . . by the number of lights in and around his home . . . there is nothing like light to make a safe and enjoyable home.

* * *

Again may we remind you . . . if you go out on the roads this holiday season that you drive carefully . . . it's so much easier to take your time . . . no one's time is that valuable that he can't drive carefully . . . so give your driving a little thought . . . you owe it to your family if not to yourself.

Stock Market Is Reactionary

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—The stock market turned reactionary today, leaders losing a point or so despite a slackened trading pace.

Prices were lower from the start, and continued to slip through the first hour. The decline was orderly, however, and some buying was noted on a scale-down. Before noon the market met support and leaders moved back modestly from extreme lows.

Steels—recent bull favorites—coppers, motors and rails were particularly soft. Aviations and rubber shares displayed some resistance to the decline.

Ray W. Humphrey Address Rotary On Compensation Law

Rotary To Dispense With Regulars Meetings To Join With Other Group

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 22.—The Rotarians, in festive mood, enjoyed a turkey dinner in honor of Christmas week. President H. W. Smith was master of ceremonies.

Dr. W. M. Shields, chairman of the music committee, presented Miss Jane Stevenson as soloist for the occasion. The song selected was "O Holy Night", by Adolphe Adam, was most appropriate and much enjoyed. Mr. Smith, on behalf of the club, presented Miss Marjorie Streeter, pianist, with a generous box of candy.

The club voted to do away with the regular meeting the first week in January in favor of the football banquet which will be held January 5.

It was voted to unite with the Women's Civic club the following week on the date of January 11.

Ray Humphrey was the speaker of the evening and discussed the new compensation law which will go into effect on January 1, 1938. He emphasized the larger compensation under the new law. Certain occupational diseases will come under compensation which under the old law do not.

Accordingly he recommended all leaders of industry to arrange for thorough physical examination for all employes to determine the present condition of health. Also, in this connection, under the new law, certain compensations will be for larger amounts and for longer terms. The address was informing and interesting, and a very timely topic.

Kiwanis Glee Club Guests At Annual Christmas Dinner And Party

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 22.—Ladies night was featured at the Christmas party of the Kiwanis club held last evening in the Trinity Lutheran church with some seventy members and their guests enjoying a delectable turkey dinner.

The Kiwanis Glee club members were special guests and under the direction of their leader, Robert W. Taylor, sang several delightful Christmas carols.

Dispensing with the usual Santa Claus custom, Charles Smith, and his committee arranged a novel distribution of gifts. Each member drew a gift from a box to which was attached a card bearing a poem characterizing the person for whom it was intended. As the member read the poem, the others guessed who the gift was for.

As a token of appreciation for his loyal and untiring efforts, Boyd W. Barrett, the retiring president, was presented with a leather golf bag, and he expressed his thanks in a gracious manner.

Each of the ladies was presented with a box of candy.

Miss Beatrice Brunton entertained the assemblage with two amusing readings.

Next Tuesday, the final meeting of the year will be held in the Trinity Lutheran church.

Sum Of $400 Is Stolen From Store

Daring Robbery Occurs At Yahn-Jones Hardware Tuesday Evening

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 22.—By a clever ruse the Yahn-Jones Hardware was robbed of a sum of $400 shortly after 5 o'clock last evening, but the robbery was not discovered until sometime after 7 o'clock.

Erle B. Yahn, co-owner of the store, and Walter Stamm, a clerk, were the only persons in the store, when four people, three men and a woman entered the store. One of the men asked to see some children's toys and a kiddie-kar and was taken to the toy department by Mr. Stamm.

The woman engaged Mr. Yahn in demonstrating a washing machine, and it was evidently during this time that the other men took the money which was in a bag in the unlocked safe.

After 7 o'clock Mr. Yahn discovered that the money was missing and called the local police, who investigated the case.

They described the woman as being about 45 years of age, 5' 5", weighing 135 pounds, an American, fair complexion and wearing a black outfit.

The man was described as being 5' 7", tall, slim face, aged about 50, and American. The other two men could not be described very definitely but were dressed in dark clothing.

Paul Reynolds, manager of the J. C. Penny store, said that he noticed four people bearing this description in his store and one of his clerks saw four people getting into a large car with an Ohio license at about 6 o'clock. The clerk said she remembered part of the license was D-45.
